

E-prescribing Market Booming Industry Growth, Research Scope, Advance Technology and Innovations by 2030

The global e-prescribing market testing was valued at ~US$ 1.5 billion in 2021. The market is expected to witness a CAGR of 23.9% from 2022 to 2030.

Among medication errors, prescription faults are the foremost causes of concern for healthcare professionals worldwide, as they account for over 70% of medication errors reported by hospitals & general practice settings. Although these errors are rarely fatal, they can have serious adverse effects on a patient's health. In addition to the associated risk for a patient's health, prescription errors are also a common cause of medical & legal malpractice claims against healthcare professionals & doctors.

Growing opioid crisis in the U.S. is a major concern driving growth of e-prescribing technology. Electronic Prescription in Controlled Substances (EPCS) provides a transparent, secure system that makes it comparatively easier to prescribe various controlled substances to the patients who legitimately need them, at the same time making it more difficult to commit abuse or fraud. For instance, according to Surescript estimates in 2018, the opioid epidemic touched crisis proportions and costs the U.S. more than USD 500 billion every year.
